In and Out of Cancerland: From Doctor to Patient (and Back)

Talk by Dr. Sandra Apondo, Team Lead Curriculum and Faculty Development. Medical Education Center, Technical University Munich, Germany.

As a psychiatrist, cancer survivor, and medical educator, Sandra Apondo knows what it means to shift one's perspective. In her talk, she will consider how language is used in medicine and medical education and how her own approach changed during and after her illness experience.

Sandra advocates for doctors engaging in more reflection on their own vulnerabilities, suggesting that this would change their personal and professional development for the better.

Everyone is welcome.
